Our records show that you are enrolled in "module" courses -- courses that do not span the entire length of the payment period or period of enrollment. At least one of your courses is scheduled to begin at a future date. Federal financial aid is based on your expected enrollment and anticipated costs for the payment period. Because you currently have no active class or you are no longer enrolled in all of the classes that your initial financial aid eligibility was based on, the financial aid you have received may need to be adjusted.

Federal regulations allow for a student to provide written confirmation of their intent to remain enrolled in the course(s) starting at a future date in the current term. Written confirmation may allow for your financial aid award to remain in place even though you may not be actively attending a class. Failure to provide written confirmation may result in a loss of funding pursuant to federal regulations.

You may provide written confirmation to our office by providing the following information and certification below.

CERTIFICATION: I understand that the U.S. Department of Education provides regulations governing the awarding and disbursement of federal financial aid. These regulations have impacted my financial aid disbursements due to dropping a course, being dropped for non-attendance, withdrawing, or receiving an unearned 'F' or 'WA' from one or more of my courses at Loma Linda University (LLU).

Initial here I understand that in order for a Return to Title IV calculation not to be completed at this time, I am required to reaffirm my intent to attend the remaining course(s) I am enrolled for this term. I am now reaffirming my intention to attend the course(s) that I am currently enrolled in. If I do not attend the future course(s) for which I am currently enrolled, a Return to Title IV calculation will be completed and I may owe money to LLU and/or the U.S. Department of Education.

Initial here If I do not attend the course(s) starting later in the term, my financial aid will be adjusted to the hours that I attended. An adjustment of aid may also result in a balance being owed to LLU.

Please check one:

- I DO plan on attending the module class/classes that begin later in this term.
 I DO NOT plan on attending the module class/classes that begin later in this term. (See note below)

NOTE: You should drop any future classes either on-line or in person with the Registrar's Office in order to avoid being charged tuition and fees for classes you do not plan to attend.
