

Consumer Information Disclosure for LLU Clinical Psychology Ph.D. program

The following table is presented so as to provide interested stakeholders with information about whether the LLU Clinical Psychology Ph.D. program meets educational requirements for licensure in the jurisdictions noted in the table. For each jurisdiction, the Clinical Psychology Ph.D. program requirements were compared to each jurisdiction’s requirements for licensure as summarized in the Association of State and Provincial Psychology Board’s (ASPPB) document entitled Consumer Information Disclosures, the link for which can be found here:

https://cdn.ymaws.com/www.asppb.net/resource/resmgr/docs/7.22.21_consumer_information.pdf).

The table provides one of three determinations (i.e., “Does meet”, “Does not meet”, “Undetermined”) to indicate whether the LLU Clinical Psychology Ph.D. program meets the educational requirements for licensure in each jurisdiction.

It is extremely important to note that Psychologist licensure requirements are determined by each jurisdiction and can change at any time. Therefore, though every effort has been taken to accurately report this information, all interested stakeholders are strongly advised to verify licensing requirements directly with each jurisdiction of interest.
