

Welcome

We would like to warmly welcome all those who have come to honor the memory of our donors, and the gift that they have given us. The coordinators and participants of this program appreciate your presence although this is not why you came here. Your presence withstands those that had learned to appreciate the gift of living and letting live, the beauty of God's creation and the results of evil. To the students, each donor had given you unforgettable and unique individual experiences that would be part of you the rest of your life.

Today, we honor a highly respectable gesture to humanity, to the future of our health care professionals, and to the community at large.

B. C. Escobar-Poni, M.D.

Assistant Professor
Department of Pathology & Human Anatomy

In Memory of Our Donors

You must have been selfless to realize and act on the fact that other could benefit from the gift of your body.

You must have been trusting to know that we students would respect, learn from, and be truly grateful for the gift you alone could bestow.

You must have been giving for you openly shared with people unknown to you the one thing that is completely yours

You must have been brave to accept that your time in this life is limited and to act on that acceptance by choosing a place for your body, a place where your body becomes our most effective teacher.

You must have been loved for the strength of that love is witnessed by your gift.

We thank your family members for supplying that love, and for being here today in celebration and remembrance of you.

We honor your selfless, trusting, brave and loving people who have taught us so much and who remind us daily of our quest to become caring and competent physicians.

We are humbled by your gift.

COMMEMORATIVE SERVICE

Loma Linda University Church

April 27, 2006

11:00 AM

LOMA LINDA UNIVERSITY SCHOOL OF MEDICINE
SCHOOL OF DENTISTRY

Class of 2009

and

Department of Pathology and Human Anatomy
&
Willed-Body Program

